Laura Kaczor (kuh-ZORE) is a Contemporary Christian singer/songwriter, worship leader, speaker and graduate of The University of Pennsylvania. Her fourth album Restore Me (LifeThirst Music), which released this year, is produced by multi-Dove Award winning Producer of the Year, Ian Eskelin (Francesca Batastelli, Sidewalk Prophets, Chris August).

The new album, being shared on her "Restore Me Tour," is a message of Laura's journey birthed in trials, fears and struggles, but one of overcoming hope, faith, and trust found in the unending, unconditional love of a Savior that restores us. It comes through in songs such as, "Only

You," "Restore Me," "You Make Me Brave," "Greater," "If the Path Was Straight," "You Know," "Once and For All," "Rain Down" and more. It features Kaczor's first radio single from the album, "Forever," a powerful song of commitment, surrender, salvation, and the Lord's faithfulness—inspired by her real-life struggles.

"My sweet Samuel, the joy of my life, born with a hole in his heart, was the reason I was on my knees for most of 2014," says Kaczor. "I want to thank my Heavenly Father for seeing me through the most challenging year of my life and speaking to my heart through the most difficult times. I want this album to give others a message of faith, hope and strength, no matter what they are going through."

She's the consummate storyteller, a singer-songwriter who is equal parts observer and autobiographer. Sara Groves has been sharing her heart and baring her soul through her music for 15 years. Invisible Empires released in October, 2011. In it, Groves explores why society feels so fast-paced, is so social-media-obsessed and so "frenetic," as she describes it.

In celebration of Sara's newest release, Floodplain, she is offering the entire Invisible Empires album for free on Noisetrade. The 11 songs from Invisible Empires are complemented by two new bonus songs. The first is her radio single "I've Been Here Before" and the second is a remix by Don Chaffer of the title track "Floodplain".
